

In This Issue

- Educational Funding 2014
- Promoting Traditional Aboriginal Practices
- A Slave's Story
- Spirituality and Beliefs
- Stories from Residential School Survivors
- Big Drum Social
- A Member Writes From Across The Pond
- New Submissions

Educational Funding 2014

If you are looking for funding as an aboriginal student, the following websites should be the place where you start your search.

Apply early in the new year- funds may run out.

\(A\) \(B\) \(C\) \(D\) \(E\) \(F\)

Promoting Traditional Aboriginal Practices

A Member Writes From Across The Pond

Firstly, I would like to thank you for your site. I have been searching for a long time to find my Indian roots. I found them almost by complete chance Saturday evening when I entered my Great Grandfather's birthplace of Drummond Island into a Google search and your site came up. My Great Grandfather was Antoine Labatte, his story and that of his brother Michael were featured on your site. Of course I intend to apply for Aboriginal Status as I feel it is very important to have pride in your roots. I would like to thank you again for making what would have been a very long and difficult search, so much easier for me. I feel I have "come home"

*Nancy
Shelby, North Yorkshire, England*

I

Our Mission: To improve the health and well-being of Aboriginal People in spirit, mind, emotion and body by providing Traditional Healing within a multi-disciplinary health care model. The model of health care at Anishnawbe Health Toronto is based on our culture and traditions. Direction is provided by a volunteer Board made up of community members. Our centre is accredited by Community Organizational Health Inc. Health care services at Anishnawbe Health Toronto are provided by a wide range of professional and dedicated providers. OHIP Accepted. To learn more go to:

<http://www.aht.ca/>

This link was highly recommended to us by one of our members.

A Slave's Story by Eleanor Wyatt as told to her by Eliza Harwick

Eliza Hardrick was born at Salina, Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, in October 1860 and this is her story:

Read More.....

A perspective: Metis and Aboriginal Spirituality and Beliefs

Because the Metis were a mobile people, they adapted and blended many religious beliefs and views that influenced them during their travels to create a mixed faith. The majority of these influences came from the Catholic faith and First Nation beliefs.

Read More.....

Hear Stories from Residential School Survivors

Tune in to Queen's Radio on the Campus of Queen's University, Kingston, ON. Hear the Stories of Residential School Survivors from the book WAWAHE by Author Robert P. Wells

The WAWAHE SERIES is a 15-Part Radio program taken from the Resonating Reconciliation Radio Series. The WAWAHE SERIES will air on Mondays at 6:30 PM for 30 minutes starting January 27, 2014 until May 5, 2014, inclusive.

□

- □□□□ CFRC - 101.9 FM
- □□□□ Streaming live at www.cfrc.ca
- □□□□ Listen on local cable 282.

Ontario Metis Family Records Center

We're on the web!

See us at:

www.aboriginalstatus.org

www.omfrc.org

Thank you Shelia Rosalie for letting us know, we will be sure to tune in.

Stay Connected

New Submissions!

We are always looking for interesting original submissions to add to upcoming issues of the OMFRC Newsletter.

If you have something you would like to add to the newsletter we would be happy to consider it, please call or email us!

Big Drum Social

We just found out about this event on Saturday February 8th. There will be a Big Drum Social in Oshawa starting at 1 pm at The University of Ontario Institute of Technology.

- Time: 1 pm
- Place: 2000 Simcoe St. N. Oshawa, ON
- Phone: 905-721-8668 for further details

Thanks Becky for letting us know about this, we hope to see you there.

Ontario Metis Family Records Center

RR5
Bancroft, K0I 1C0
613-332-4789

omfrcinfo@gmail.com